OREGON BOY RECEIVES WELL WON PROMOTION

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, April 26.—The appointment by the O. A. C. board of regents of G. V. Copson, an Oregon boy and graduate of the institution, to a position on the faculty marks the first step taken by him in his coming career. He is a Corvallis boy who won high honors by hard study, and received both the bachelor's and the master's degree at the Oregon Agricultural college. The latter was earned partly by an investigation of water filtration at the Albany plant, which is said to have been the most exhaustive ever conducted in the Willamette valley.

After graduation Mr. Copson went to the Massachusetts Agricultural College where he took work in the graduate school, with Dr. C. E. Marshall a leading bacteriologist.

Following his year's work at Massachusetts he went to Germany to study under the direction of the great Munich scientists, specializing in pathology, immunity and dairy bacteriology. He is still at Munich and Berne, Switzerland, but will return in time to take up his duties in his three specialties by the beginning of the new college year.

FRIGHTENED DOG IS TAKEN FOR COYOTE AND CHASED BY MEN

PILOT ROCK BASEBALL PLAYERS ON WAY HOME THINK ANIMAL IS MAD.

Automobile Runs Animal Home and Owner Has Hard Time Explaining That Dog Is Not a Rabid Coyote—Poor Brute Is Chased for Over Quarter of a Mile.

Every animal with pointed ears, a long muzzle, a lean body and a dirty hide is not a coyote, not by any means. Some dogs answer that description and, in pursuing predatory prey, it is best to remember the words of the immortal statesman who said, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead." Said happy remark is respectfully commended to certain members of the Pilot Rock ball team who, in their zeal to rid the county of a dangerous beast, almost perpetrated a tragedy last Sunday.

The tale was brought in yesterday from the Rock by George Done and he vouches for its truth. It seems that a party of the ball players was en route home from Hermiston Sunday evening via the direct road when in the center of the road not far ahead, an unkempt beast having every appearance of a rabid coyote loomed up. Casteel was driving the car and with him were Mayor Newt Royer, Clock, Evans and maybe another.

They gave the animal the "once over" and with unanimous consent decided it was a coyote with the rabies. The spirit of the chase was upon them and they hastily made preparations for annihilating the beast. One mounted to the hood with a ball bat and two others took up positions on the running boards with similar weapons in their hands. The signal was given and Casteel turned on the juice.

The car darted for the animal with such ferocity that the poor brute took to his heels, keeping straight down the road. Yelling like Pirates and brandishing their warclubs, the ball-players in the auto kept close at his heels. Maybe the thought of the three dollar bounty on his scalp was an added stimulus.

About a quarter of a mile ahead was the farm home of Bert Reeder and when the quarry arrived at the barn gate he darted in. After him went the auto. Mr. Reeder was in the barnyard and, seeing him, the party shouted a warning. "Hi there, watch out," they cried, "rabid coyote. Get your gun!"

Reeder took in the situation in a glance and his answer was much to the point. "Say, you blankety blank idiots, that's my dog," and, so keen were the Pilot Rockers to slay the brute that he had to repeat his remark several times before they were impressed with it. Sure enough it was the Reeder dog. It had lagged behind its master a little on a return from a hunt and had thus become the hunted instead of the hunter.

Rebo May Lose Its Fame.

RENO, Nev., April 26.—A statewide movement is now on foot to refer the divorce bill, the present gambling law and pari-mutuel law to a vote of the people at the next general election.

Not only is the movement well organized in Rebo, but in every county in the state local organizations are being formed. It is also said that prohibition may be included within the scope of the movement.

"We shall put all of these measures to the referendum just as soon as this remedy may lawfully be invoked, and the referendum movement will be thoroughly organized," said a leader today.

The Nevada Legislature recently passed the lacing and easy-divorce bills.

High Car Steps Denied.

SALEM, Ore., April 26.—In an answer filed with the state railroad commission the Portland Railway, Light & Power company denies that the steps to its cars are too high, as charged in a complaint to the commission by the Women's Social Service Club of Oak Grove.

The club complained that the steps were much higher than they should be, and that it was difficult for women to board the cars. Announcing that the steps are only 18 inches high the company avers the height is proper for interurban cars.
